

Twenty Years in a Parsonage

And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, who have been called according to his purpose. Romans 8:28 (NIV) The simple profession above is often what keeps many ministerial families afloat amid the turmoils of their service. Ministries often begin with high hopes and excitement for all concerned. However, soon unrealistic expectations put families into despair. Congregations often expect the ministers family to work for nothing, raise perfect children, suffer all manner of insults, hardships, and strife without complaining or exhibiting any emotional or psychological distress. Betty Phillips Goerss brings her years of experience forward in this book to help ministerial families and congregations better understand the difficulties that often await those eager to serve God. Her story deals with the hardships of living under the microscope of a congregation, raising children, struggles within the church, the death of her husband, the joy of a new-found love, and the blessings of a blended family.
